ACIMIT to showcase Italian Textile Machinery innovation at Milano Unica 2025

ACIMIT, the Association of Italian Textile Machinery Manufacturers, will participate for the first time in Milano Unica, the leading international trade fair for premium fabrics and accessories, scheduled from July 8 to 10, 2025, at Rho Fiera Milano.

With its own institutional booth, ACIMIT aims to highlight the innovation and excellence of Italy's textile machinery sector while fostering stronger links between machinery producers, textile exhibitors, and global buyers. This initiative seeks to enhance industry collaboration and promote awareness around sustainable, circular, and digital solutions developed by Italian manufacturers.

Through this strategic presence, ACIMIT will spotlight the advanced technologies that support environmentally conscious production and digital transformation areas where Italy continues to set benchmarks in textile machinery.

Marco Salvade, President of ACIMIT, commented, "It is essential for our Association to be present at such a significant trade event. The synergy between Italian excellence in textiles and textile machinery has always been, and continues to be, a key factor in strengthening the leadership of the entire Italian textile supply chain."

ACIMIT's debut at Milano Unica marks a new chapter in aligning Italy's machinery innovation with the evolving needs of the global fashion and textile industry.
